

US FOODS: STOP breaking Our Hearts

This Valentine's Day, US Foods is serving up misery to its employees, the men and women who provide food, utensils and other supplies to this restaurant.

In Arizona, the company is under investigation for violating laws that protect workers' rights. US Foods is charged with discriminating against workers for their union affiliation, denying access to workers' representatives and bargaining in bad faith.

US Foods drivers, warehouse workers and mechanics in Arizona and Southern California are working without contracts after the company failed to reach fair agreements despite months of negotiations.

Tell US Foods:
Come to the table with a REAL proposal!
